Contract Discussions On Leatherwood No. 1 Are Fruitless So Far

With eleven days remaining in the present United Mine Workers — Blue Diamond Coal Corporation contract at Leatherwood Mine No. 1, negotiations for both sides have still not reached accord on a new one.

Officials of both organizations have met twice so far, on March 19 and April 9, but the future of the relationship of Blue Diamond and the UMWA at Leatherwood is still in doubt. The present contract will expire April 19. The Blue Diamond Corporation issued its sixty-day contract cancellation notice to the UMWA on March 19.

He mentioned "wholesale discharges" of workers, among them several UMWA officers, as one way in which supervisors have aggravated the situation.

He went on to say that Blue Diamond has at Leatherwood No. 1 mine, after a January men, coal and equipment as good as that at any mine in the force there by about half.

District and he could not see how the company loses money while other mines under the same contract make money and are satisfied with their contract with the UMWA.

About 170 UMWA men are still employed at the Leatherwood No. 1 mine, after a January men, coal and equipment as good as that at any mine in the force there by about half.

It flares the 40 cents-per-ton welfare royalty which the Union requires as a major cause of its financial problems at the Leatherwood mine.

But C. E. Beane, president of UMWA District 30, with headquarters in Pikeville, said today that his organization is not convinced that the Leatherwood No. 1 mine is losing money.

And if it is, he stated, it is because of poor management and not the UMWA contract.

He said he was "hopeful we can work something out" before the April 27 deadline.

Blue Diamond vice-president R. H. Watson told the Hazard Herald last week that "We'd like to continue to operate, we hope to meet again" with Union representatives.

Another negotiating session is planned before the expiration date of the contract.

Beane said that Blue Diamond has shown to the Union's negotiators a financial statement of recent operating costs of the company. But he indicated that such figures were too vague to be conclusive and that the Union would ask to see more detailed records of the company's financial picture.

Beane said one reason for the strained relations at Leatherwood was because "the supervisors there have kept aggravating the situation."

Edith Napier, prominent Hazard business woman, will be in Kentucky's delegation at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco in July.

She was selected as one of ten at-large delegates in the state at the Republican State Convention last Saturday.

Twenty four Kentuckians are in the delegation, "uncommitted and uninstructed," Miss Napier said, to support a particular aspirant for the party's selection as a Presidential candidate.

The twenty four in the Kentucky delegation represent two delegates from each of the seven state congressional districts, and ten at-large delegates.

Twenty four alternates have also been named in the same manner.

Gerald Lyons of Ashland and Alex Parker of Maysville will represent the Seventh District at the convention.

Rumors circulated last week that the Kentucky delegation would go to San Francisco pledged to initially support Senator Thruston Morton as a favorite-son candidate, then switch its allegiance later to Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

But Morton has since stated that he does not desire to be a favorite-son and that the Kentuckians should remain uncommitted to a particular candidate until they get to San Francisco.

Miss Napier, a native of Hazard and a life-long Republican, said of her selection as a delegate: "I was surprised of course but I'm excited about the trip. It is an honor to go. You see government in the making at a convention."

Miss Napier is presently the chairwoman of Perry County Republicans.

Perkins Resting In Hospital

Congressman Carl D. Perkins was taken to Bethesda Naval Hospital yesterday following an attack of stomach virus.

There doctors described his condition as "excellent" but required him to rest a few days before returning to his Congressional duties.

His condition was noted after a near-fainting spell just off of the House of Representatives floor. He told doctors who attended him that he wanted to stay on the job but for rest and observation.

He was ordered to the hospital. Perkins has been chairman of hearings on President Johnson's proposed legislation to combat poverty.

In line with this job, he held an extraordinary session of the poverty committee late Tuesday evening in an effort to hear all of the witnesses who had made appearances at the hearings.

Knifing Suspect Is Being Held

Kenneth Combs, Hazard youth wanted in connection with the cutting of Hazard Bulldog basketball star Freddy Hogg last month, has been taken into custody in Dayton, Ohio and is waiting for extradition procedures to return him here.

Combs refused to waive his extradition rights and action by the governors of both Ohio and Kentucky will be necessary to have him returned.

City Police Chief Bud Luttrell said that extradition proceedings have already begun and that a hearing on them will probably be held in Dayton next week.

Witnesses of the incident in which Combs allegedly slashed Hogg's hand with a knife or razor on Liberty Street the night Hazard beat Carr Creek to win the 14th Region basketball crown may be called to testify at the hearings, Chief Luttrell said.

Kindergarten Enrollment Schedule Announced

All parents who desire their child to be enrolled in the Community Church Kindergarten for 1964-65 should bring them to visit the Kindergarten at 10:00 a.m. this Friday in the Education Building of the First Baptist Church, Main Street, Hazard.

Attention Property Owners!

Hazard property owners who have been billed for their share of costs in recent street paving have until April 30 to apply for the five-year payment plan of their bill. Property owners who fail to ask for this extension of time for their payments will be billed for the total amount when this year's tax bills are issued and the full amount will be payable immediately. For more information, call City Hall.

New Sewage Treatment Plant at Allais

IT TOOK two photographs to make this mosaic, as you can tell by the difference in tone of the left and right sides of the picture. But together they give a good idea of the general layout of the Hazard's new, $805,250 sewage treatment plant that went into operation last week. The large, circular dark area on the right is a stone pit through which the sewage slowly filters after chemical treatment.

Clean-Up Group Encouraged To Push Litter Laws

Steve Sandlin, Lake and Resort Sanitation Consultant for the State Health Department, kicked off the county clean-up kick-off meeting Tuesday night with a strong recommendation for the use of the law and law enforcers in getting rid of unwanted trash that offends the public.

Sandlin told the gathering of county officials and interested public at the Kentucky Power Company auditorium that "Hazard and Perry County were cleaner ten-years ago than they are today."

He stressed the importance of enforcing existing litter laws as essential to a successful clean-up project such as the one Perry Countians have begun.

Sandlin told the gathering of county officials and interested public at the Kentucky Power Company auditorium that "Hazard and Perry County were cleaner ten-years ago than they are today."

He stressed the importance of enforcing existing litter laws as essential to a successful clean-up project such as the one Perry Countians have begun.

London, Kentucky was given as an example of a town that cleaned itself up.

Sandlin said 196 court orders to individuals and businesses to remove outdoor litter from the public view played a large part in the success of London's project.

Sharing the guest speaker's stand at the meeting was Mrs. Connie Quinn, of the State Conservation Department.

Mrs. Quinn listed three basic reasons why a community such as Hazard owes it to itself to clean up its premises:

1. The cleanliness of a community is a reflection of its pride in itself; 2. Industry is not interested in locating in a dirty community; 3. tourists shun littered areas.

In describing the booming tourist business in Kentucky which Perry County until now has not shared in, Mrs. Quinn said that 11 million tourists came to Kentucky from out of state last year and spent over 220 million dollars here.

This was a jump of three million tourists in the state over the previous year, she added.

Led by Clean-up Campaign Chairman Frances McDougall, those in attendance at the meeting drew up a list of committees to be formed and potential leaders of various task-forces to be organized for participation in the beautification program.

A team to survey the entire county and list instances where litter laws are being violated will be among the first steps taken by the committee organization.

Other areas of concentration by the group include litter control, tree and flower plantings, a poster contest for school children, and groups to concentrate on highway picnic tables, cemeteries, and the possible establishment of county garbage sites.

In addition to basic organization on the immediate campaign, groundwork for a long-range cleanup program was also laid Tuesday night with the listing of all local organizations who might be able to contribute something to a permanent clean-up organization.

Potential representatives from each organization were named and designated as a temporary Executive Committee which is expected to meet soon to consolidate the preliminary work done so far.

Owners of Coal Land Liable For Damage Stripping Does Land Owners

Frankfort, Ky.—A new election to D. D. Stewart Coal Mining Co., Pineville, and Roaming in Kentucky will be the liability of owners of coal land for damage the stripping may inflict upon other property owners in the vicinity.

The Court of Appeals so ruled in a far-reaching decision handed down March 20. It is believed to be the nation's first opinion granting the right of suit for damage against the owner of the land, even though he has leased it to another for stripping.

The case arose from this situation: George Greene, a farmer on Hance Creek in Bell County, sued Asher Coal Mining Company for $21,000 when, as he claimed, debris from strip mining on land held by Asher clogged the creek, causing it to overflow his farm for the first time.

Dismiss Suit

Bell Circuit Court dismissed the suit on the ground Greene had no valid claim against Asher Coal Mining Company, since it had leased the land for stripping to D. D. Stewart Coal Mining Co., Pineville, and Roaming in Kentucky will be the liability of owners of coal land for damage the stripping may inflict upon other property owners in the vicinity.

In the opinion prepared by Commissioner Watson Clay the high court reversed the court below as to Greene's right to sue the landlord. The opinion did not allow him the damages sought, only the right to press his suit against Asher.

The opinion noted this pattern in the law: It is an ancient principle of law that the landlord is immune from damages growing out of the ordinary negligences of a tenant.

That is the general rule, but exceptions have cropped out from time to time. The landlord becomes liable when he leases with full knowledge that intended use of the land holds a high potential of danger or damage to others.

Music teaches us two virtues greatly needed today — discipline in preparation, imagination in performing.

Hazard, Ky. — "Queen City of the Mountains"

Now you can get an 18-foot, two-ton Chrysler for less money than one of those jazzed-up compacts with a big car name on it.

Let's face it. You can't make a big automobile out of a compact (even when it has a big car name on it) no matter how many extra-cost options you add.

Right now, today, you can drive an 18-foot, two-ton Chrysler Newport sedan for less money and a lot less trouble.

You'll get the room you want, Weight to handle the road. Power for the tight spots. And the luxury you get only in a big car.

You'll get more value, too—things that cost you extra on a smaller car. Like a 361-cubic-inch V-8 that runs on regular gas. Foam-cushioned front seats. Padded dash. Sill-to-sill carpets.

So why settle for less than a Chrysler—now that price is no longer a factor?

B and PW Club President Attends Dedication of Club's Project

A dream became a reality on Sunday, April 12, for the 170,000 member of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs when Miss Virginia Allan, president, was in Taipei, Taiwan (Free China) for the dedication of the Maffett Nurses Residence - an 83-room Residence built near a new 1,000 bed hospital.

One of the Goals of Miss Katherine Peden, Hopkinsville, when she was National president was to raise $100,000. to build this home. Her goal was reached within the year and members of the Hazard B. & P. W. Club had a part in these contributions. A typical bedroom in the new home has two double-decker beds for four nurses, four closets and two desks. Former accommodations crowded 12 into one room, with no closets and only one desk.

The Chinese Nurses Project was adopted by the Federation in 1941 when Dr. Minnie L. Maffett, Dallas, Texas, was president. Member contributions have provided young girls in the Republic of Nationalists China (Formosa) with the opportunity to enter the professional field of nursing.

By coordinating efforts through the American Bureau of Medical Aid to China, continued interest and support made many contributions by granting subsidies to hospitals, medical and nursing students, and by supplying medical and hospital equipment to schools and health institutions.

The Federation adopted the Kweiyang Army Nursing School in 1944. After the communists forced the removal of the School to Taipei, Formosa, the renovation of the National Defense Medical Center was made possible through B. & P. W. gifts. Today, all the modern equipment in this Center has been purchased as a result of these gifts.

In 1961, The Maffett Nurses Residence was incorporated into the Chinese Nursing Project and the Federation assumed the obligation to provide adequate living quarters for 170 nurses in the final stages of their education.

Low-Fat, Low-Calorie

Strawberry Treat

No one need feel sorry for the person on a low-fat, low-calorie diet when he can enjoy a dessert as delectable as the one shown here. . . . Fresh Strawberry Dessert Sauce over fruit-flavored sherbet. This marvelous sauce costs the dieter just 5 calories per tablespoon as compared with 37 calories had it been sweetened with sugar instead of the non-caloric sweetener, Sucaryl, used here.

This recipe is a sample of the more than 300 low-fat, low-calorie treats to be found in an intriguing new diet book by Helen Belinke, "The Low-Fat Cookbook for Gourmets" (David McKay: $4.95). Mrs. Belinke is an old hand at the art of calorie cutting, having previously authored "The Gourmet in the Low-Calorie Kitchen."

The fat-reduced, calorie-stripped culinary triumphs in her new cookbook have been accomplished through "minor miracles in substitution." Mrs. Belinke uses fats of the polyunsaturated type, skim milk instead of whole milk, and the calorie-free sweetener in place of sugar. The author warns, "Don't deny yourself or your family the sweets they look forward to at the end of the meal. They can cost you practically nothing in the way of cholesterol, and (can be) controlled in calories as well."

Here is Mrs. Belinke's recipe:

Fresh Strawberry Dessert Sauce

Calories per tablespoon—5

Milligrams Cholesterol per tablespoon—0

1 pint fresh strawberries, 2 tablespoons liquid Sucaryl washed, hulled and halved, 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Put all ingredients in container of electric blender. Cover and blend at high speed until pureed.

Delicious and attractive on lime sherbet. Good with assorted melon balls.

LETTER FROM MRS. JOHN SHERMAN COOPER

Senator and Mrs. Cooper Visit Todd Family In Nassau Easter

We had an unexpected Easter present. Our former National Committeeman, J. O. Cooper, and his wife invited us to stay with them in Nassau for the Easter recess. We flew to Miami on the Friday morning, leaving dark and cold Washington for the bright sunlight of the Caribbean. Another hour's flight took us out over the navy blue Gulf Stream, over the chain of sandy cays spread out in the emerald green shallows, and on to the big jet runways of the Nassau airport. This bright island has become an international winter resort since World War II, and thanks to B.O.A.C. air service is a heaven for the British and Canadians as well as Americans.

The Todds have been coming to Nassau since 1932, and their house is on one of the oldest streets in town, sheltered behind high pink plaster walls that are garlanded with cherry-colored Bougainvillea. Inside the gate there is one of the loveliest tropical gardens I have ever seen and also, joy of joys, a salt water swimming pool.

Let's Enforce Litter Laws

Among several stimulating and encouraging points brought out at the Tuesday kick-off meeting of the county clean-up drive was Steve Sandlin's strong and clearly stated personal conviction that enforcement of existing litter laws is the key to any successful attempt to beautify the area.

Mr. Sandlin, Lake and Resort San-

Book Review

All books reviewed in this column are available at the Bobby Davis Memorial Library.

The Reivers

By William Faulkner

Winner of the 1963 Pulitzer Prize
THE REIVERS is a genial and humorous Faulkner novel, subtitled "A Reminiscence." Set in 1905, it tells how an appealing 11-year-old, a motor-mad family retainer and an "unforgettable" Negro named Ned make off with a Winton touring car, and recounts their hilarious adventures when they arrive in Memphis. This is Faulkner in a light and tender vein, and has lured thousands of new readers into the circle of Faulkner admirers.

The Sand Pebbles

by Richard McKenna

Winner of the latest $10,000 Harper Prize Novel Award, this is a brisk, engrossing story by a new author on a fresh subject. It follows the adventures of the Sand Pebbles (crew of the U.S. gunboat San Pablo) as they cruise the Yangtze River in China in the 1920s. "With its pithy conversation and blunt profanity, its tough courage, official obtuseness collective corruption and individual gallantry, this novel reads like the truth of history."

The Two-Ocean War

by Samuel Eliot Morison

A one-volume history of the U. S. Navy in World War, based on Admiral Morison's distinguished 15-volume history. "This is no mere condensation; it is a full, hard second look... done with the same flair and artistry that have won the author two Pulitzer Prizes."—Washington Post and Times-Herald. "A grand story of terrible crises, high heroism in battle and shocking mistakes"—Newsday. Maps diagrams and photographs.

Joy In The Morning

By Betty Smith

Another engrossing story by the author of A TREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN. Written with warmth and charm and set in 1927, Joy In The Morning is the story of Annie Brown, aged 18 and her first year of marriage to a young and struggling law student. "This is the warm, earnest glorification of the everlasting common man... and in general of purity, decency, love and goodness... Thousands and thousands of readers will eat this up, alternately smiling and weeping."—N.Y. Herald Tribune.

itation Consultant for the State Health Department and a resident of Buckhorn minced no words when he called upon Perry Countians to use the law to protect themselves from the few who tarnish the county's appearance with trash and debris scattered on private property in public view. He related past instances in which a warrant or an impending warrant for the arrest of an individual responsible for litter resulted in prompt removal of the debris. He suggested that all persons interested in a clean county landscape complain to law enforcement officials when a neighbor breaks the litter law if a friendly suggestion to the offender gets no response.

One of the first moves the newly formed Executive Committee of the clean-up drive plans to make is to tour all of Perry County and note instances in which an individual or a business has allowed unsightly trash and rubbish to accumulate in the public view. The committee will then obtain the responsible persons named and submit it to the proper authorities for legal action.

This is precisely what needs to be done. The general appearance of the public landscape is not only the public's business, it is its responsibility. Failure to enforce existing litter laws is a prime reason for the sad appearance of the county now. Laws exist to give the majority of people a legal and orderly means of protecting itself from the offenses of the few. It will be a shame if the majority of the public, the county at large, allows itself to be humiliated before visitors by an unthinking few.

Much of the unsightly debris that meets the most casual glance around is more the result of carelessness than malice, and a simple reminder in most cases will be sufficient to have the mess cleared away. But some people simply do not care what effect their trash is having on the public and will take no action until they are prodded. Fines of from $25 to $300 are provided by law for litterers and the imposition of a few such fines should have the desired effect of motivating the people to clean up their messes.

We hope the magistrates, deputies, judges, law enforcement officials at all levels will remember that their first responsibility is to the public and not to any individual who may be brought before them for breaking the litter law. And we hope that each individual will remember his own obligation to himself and the community as a whole when he sees a pile of unsightly trash and knows the name of the person responsible.

THE CORRECT LABEL STRIKES HOME

EXPLODING A MYTH

We were gratified to see that the United States Senate has at last taken steps to explode one of the most deplorable myths of our time—the use of the term "federal funds" as a cover-up for the actual expenditure of TAXPAYERS' FUNDS.

How many times have you driven by construction sites and seen the phrase "being built with federal funds" emblazoned on an adjoining sign and sped past without giving it a second thought? But, if that sign had truthfully informed you that it was taxpayers' money that was being spent—yours and mine—you'd most likely have brought your car to a screeching halt.

It is astounding to realize that the "federal funds" cliché has been consistently used as smoke screen for the dispensing—no matter how wasteful—of funds provided by the taxpayers, ever since big government spending became an unwelcome way of life some 33 years ago.

The only money the federal government has or ever has had is that which it gets from the taxpayers. Therefore, when money is sent to aid a foreign country, for instance, it does not come from "federal funds"; it is supplied by taxpayers who have been required to "chip in" to make the money available.

We believe that the Senate's recent approval of a proposal to write into all spending measures the pointed reminder that the money appropriated comes out of the taxpayers' pockets should be promptly seconded by the House and enacted into law.

The Challenges of Life

(Reprinted from another publication)

Twelve years ago, four men (with one leg and five arms between them) borrowed eight thousand dollars and started the manufacture of electronic components. Today the company they organized, Abilities, Inc., employs four hundred so-called "disabled" workers and last year grossed two and a half million dollars. Recently, the organizer of this company, Henry Viscardi, Jr., of Long Island, New York, standing on two artificial legs addressed a large body of lawmakers. He said, in part:

"I am richly blessed... I speak to you not as an amputee. I am not an amputee to my wife who loves me, nor to my children who think I am the greatest... I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon, if I can. I SEEK OPPORTUNITY, NOT SECURITY. I want neither sympathy nor subsidies, but only the opportunity to live and work in dignity.

"I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed.

"I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the CHALLENGES OF LIFE TO THE GUARANTEED EXISTENCE—the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence, nor my dignity for a handout... It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid... This is what it means to be to be an American."

Our Willing Workers

For years now, and for thousands of men here, the opportunity to work for a living has simply not existed. Some form of public welfare has been the only means of livelihood for them and their families. During this dark time, the image of the Kentucky mountaineer has become tarnished in the public eye. His evolution over the years has been described by countless writers as having fallen from the high plane of sturdy self-reliance in pioneer days to a low level today of a prideless parasite on the public. The opinion is widespread that the welfare condition is now so ingrained in the mountaineer that it has become his desired and accepted way of life.

No doubt there are several instances where this has occurred here, as it has in other places, all over the United States. Practically everyone is able to say, from the comfort of a warm living room after a good supper, that they know people "too sorry to work." A man would be innocent indeed if, by the time he has become a man, he has not observed that in a society as diverse as ours there are a few without pride and old-fashioned "gumption."

But have these critics seen Perry County's fathers of dependent children on the job?

Surely any objective viewer who has observed the enthusiasm these fathers are bringing to their public works jobs in the county cannot conclude that the desire to work is any less intense among men here than elsewhere. Talk to any of the supervisors of the public projects. Hazard's city manager, the county magistrate, the board of education and other agencies who have worked closely with these men and the unanimous opinion you will get will be that these fathers are excellent and willing workers who come to work on time, put forth an honest effort at their assigned tasks, like the average man everywhere. That kind of worker has pride. And his pride is as genuine and strong as that of the most skilled or professional of people anywhere and deserves to be recognized as such.

The men out on these public works projects are earning every penny they make. A worker who helps patch a rural road with pick and shovel deserves as much credit for his labor as a heavy equipment operator for the State Highway Department. Both are in the public service, doing needed work on roads. There should be no difference made between them in the public esteem.

The enthusiasm these men are showing for their work opportunity, as limited at it is—a dollar an hour isn't much, no matter where you spend it—is a tribute to them as men of pride and self-respect. They are seeking to better themselves in the best way available to them, to provide for their families with all the energy they can muster. Their demonstrated desire to work is a tribute, too, to the old tradition of the mountaineer's desire to be self-reliant that many claim has vanished from our breed of hill folk.

These men are proving that claim to be false, and the public they are serving is in their debt.

Original Seal Still In Use

By IDA LEE HANSEL

Soon the present Perry County Courthouse, erected in 1912 will be replaced by a modern new building. This was the subject of a conversation a few days ago in the Office of the Circuit Court Clerk, Grace Holliday Strong Judge S. M. Ward, being in the Clerk's Office and having occasion to use the Clerk's Seal said, "Grace, I believe this seal is the same one used when Felix B. Feltner was circuit Court Clerk in 1897, and by the way, let me tell you a tale regarding this seal and he related:

Felix B. Feltner was elected Circuit Court Clerk of Perry County at the Regular November election in 1897. He served in that capacity from the first Monday in January 1898 until the first Monday in January, 1904.

He had a son named Curt. Last I knew of him he lived at Pinedale, Wyoming. However, when Curt was just a small boy and along about 1898 or 1899 he went to the Clerk's office and got hold of the Official Seal and swapped it to a boy for a cat. His daddy, when he learned of it, made him take the cat back and get the Seal. I do not know how long that Seal had been in use here. It was probably the first seal ever obtained for this office.

Mrs. Strong stated that the present seal was here in this office when she was elected in 1956 and was in a rather dilapidated condition and needed a little work done on it and she acquired the services of Mr. Caltril of the Vocational School who fixed it and she has been using it since then.

The Official Seal bears date of patent March 9, 1909 and is believed to have been placed in the Clerk's Office in 1912 when the Courthouse was rebuilt after fire destroyed the first one.

If so, it has seen seven clerk's come and go and is still making a rather good impression. When moving day to the new courthouse comes around and odds and ends are thrown away to be replaced this Official Seal will be packed neatly away and when you have occasion to visit the Clerk's office in the future, the Old Seal, (replaced by a new one) will be high on a shelf, sharing a place of dignity.

IDA HANSEL uses the old official seal every day in her job as assistant to Circuit Court Clerk Grace Strong.

Letter From Attorney General

Dear Editor:

I recently received the following letter from the State Attorney General:

"In response to your inquiry of March 18, 1964, relative to the classification of Hazard as a city of the Third Class and raising the questions of the prospects for having it reclassified into an inferior classification, we refer you to Section 156 of the Constitution.

That Section prescribes the population brackets for cities of the six classifications. A city of the Third Class falls within the population bracket of 8,000 or more, and less than 20,000. A city of the Fourth Class falls in the population bracket of 3,000 or more, and less than 8,000.

KRS 81.010 assigns the City of Hazard to the classification of Third Class.

The assignment of cities to the various classifications under Section 156 of the Constitution is the proper function of the General Assembly, which, the Constitution says, shall "... change assignments made as the population of said cities and towns may increase or decrease, and in the absence of other satisfactory information, shall be governed by the last preceding federal census in so doing..."

It would be our opinion that "other satisfactory information" as mentioned in Section 156 of the Constitution properly used as a basis for establishing the population of a city for the purposes of seeking reclassification could be a census taken by a reliable public organization, such as a census was taken of Brandenburg, Kentucky by the Young Business Women's Club of that city to show an increase in population to enable that city to be reclassified to Fifth Class from Sixth Class.

Such a census by a responsible organization could be taken in your city, then have the census finding certified by the city council or city board of commissioners and attested by the City Clerk. Then it should be given to the state senator and the state representative from the district as the basis for their preparation of a bill to be presented to the 1966 General Assembly for proper action on reclassification. We also believe the City should include with the certification of the census a statement, or a resolution by the council or board of commissioners, concerning the need for the reclassification, predicated upon the reasons or the matters involved for the requested reclassification.

We trust this satisfactorily answers your inquiry. If you feel need for further information, do not hesitate to call on us.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT MATTHEWS

Letter to President Johnson

To the editor: Please print this letter:
The President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D. C.
Mr. President:

The incomplete and insufficient answer I received from the Assistant Secretary of Interior as answers to my letters to the White House, does not mention vital school statistics, nor free gratis school insurance and compensation proposal.

I respectfully ask the President to ask the Congress, before it is too late for successful passage of legislation in this session of Congress, to enact legislation to require keeping of records of school accident and tragedies, and to provide a free gratis school insurance and compensation program in order that school tragedy victims can be respected as they deserve to be respected at the hands of government. It is not possible for us to find just reason for our government to flagrantly disregard the well-being and the human rights of human school tragedy victims.

I respectfully ask the President to advise me, and the general public, at the earliest date possible whether or not the just effort will be made.

With kind regards, I am

Sincerely,

TO THE EDITOR:

So you say you did not criticize the students, well every one to their opinion and it is my opinion that it is very clear you did. I wonder what they think about this man Gibson that you lambast so much? I believe you should let up on him and write about some of your city officials after what Kiburne swore. Hazard could be a nice town if it was cleaned up and I don't mean the streets. When it comes down to those that are suppose to uphold the law and breaking it with all they got it is time for a change.

Requests Information on Families

TO THE EDITOR:

Roseville, California

This is an unusual letter but after reading the series written by Mr. Conant for the San Francisco Examiner, I can't wait any longer to do something. My grandparents came from Kentucky, and told me years ago about the people there. The Easterlings, Elams and Swifts still live around Salyersville and Morehead. My grandmother was going with me in 1933 to Kentucky, I was intending to teach school, but didn't make it.

I am asking you o help me get information about these families Mr. Conant mentioned and to help me in presenting the help I want to give them.

Thomas Osborne of Hazard, Ray Sabastion, Elizabeth Roberts, William Mosbey, Harry Deaton of Combs. Please let me know how I can help.

GUARANTEED eat IN THE meat MAKES THIS A GREAT STEAK SALE!

We say "guaranteed EAT in the MEAT" for several reasons. The first deals with quality. Every "Super-Right" steak is cut from selected, corn-fed, fully matured beef—it provides the best eating steak, the care of the beef. Through every step until the minute you buy—strict quality controls insure the eating goodness. Then there are A&P's cutting methods which insure full value. Let's take Round Steaks for example... since this is something you can check for yourself. Experts agree, the best is a full cut center Round Steak—the only kind sold as "Super-Right". And you can easily tell one—look for these points as shown in the two photos:

1. Bone Must Be Round—Not Misshapen
2. The Meat, Red and Marbled
3. A Full Top Round Steak
4. A Generous Eye Round Section
5. A Full Bottom Round

You'll never find excess interior fat, gristle or beef meat—these make a steak that is not full center cut. Buy any "Super-Right" steak—we guarantee the EAT in the MEAT... or your money back.

Estill McIntyre Is Initiated Into International Fraternity

Last week during the Kentucky Education Association Convention, a Hazard Schoolman, Estill McIntyre, Principal of the Roy G. Eversole Elementary School, was initiated into an international educational fraternity, Phi Delta Kappa.

The initiation ceremony took place at the University of Louisville where candidates from four Kentucky chapters were inducted into the organization in a joint ceremony. Mr. McIntyre was inducted into the Alpha Nu chapter, which is the University of Kentucky chapter.

Membership in Phi Delta Kappa is by chapter invitation. Invitations are extended to students who give promise of success in a professional career in education, to faculty members of colleges and universities whose professional interests are primarily in the field of public education, and to men successfully engaged in public education who meet stated constitutional requirements.

Napier Loses To Leslie County 8-6 In First Baseball Game of Season

The M. C. Napier baseball Navajos opened their 1964 season on the wrong end of an 8-6 pasting at the hands of the Leslie County Eagles yesterday afternoon at Napier field.

Leslie drew first blood pushing across one run in the top of the first on a single by Phillip McReynolds and a sacrifice fly by Mike Caudill.

The Eagles added 3 more in the second with the help of a Napier error, another single by McReynolds, a triple by Charles Wilson and a walk to Larry Thomas.

Simon Lunce scored Napier's first run in the home half of the second after reaching base on an error.

The Eagles added insult to injury with 4 more in the 3rd on two walks, a hit and an error. Guy Olinger's Navajos put 3 runs on the board in the 4th on two walks, a fielder's choice and a triple.

Two more tallies went up for Napier in the 6th but it didn't help any as the Eagles were home free.

Napier's next action will be tomorrow afternoon when the

Early Upsurge In Attendance Noted At Mammoth Cave

Ray Scott, Public Relations Director for Mammoth Cave National Park, reports a tremendous early upsurge in attendance.

"In the first quarter of 1964," Scott said, "16,561 people visited Mammoth Cave. That's more than 70 percent over the 1963 figure of 9,700. The month of March, 1964, which produced the astonishing number of 1,875 campers, showed an increase of 88.5 percent in the total number of visitors over March, 1963."

Based on these early season figures, the park management anticipates a 30 percent increase in attendance for the year 1964.

"We confidently expect a total of around 800,000 visitors at the park this year," Scott said. "That means that approximately 400,000 persons will take a cave trip."

The P.R. man also reported that 143 additional camp sites will be ready on May 1.

"This extraordinary pre-season business is a direct result of the personal contact made by Kentucky's travel promotion people at the various sports and travel shows this winter," Scott said. "We can tell that from the great number of visitors who mention getting Mammoth Cave and other Kentucky literature at this or that show. The state tourist industry benefits tremendously from the travel shows."

One Of Six On Social Security Attorney Harry Caudill To Speak At Cumberland Spring Conference

About one out of every six residents of Perry County is now receiving a monthly social security check according to figures released by Francis A. McDougal, Hazard, Kentucky Social Security Acting District Manager.

Mr. McDougal's report listed the number of Perry County beneficiaries as 8,196 at the end of 1963, an increase of 367 over the corresponding figure at the beginning of 1963. The dollar benefit amounts total more than $3,413,304 yearly. Retired workers are the largest single group of social security beneficiaries in the County. There are 1,293 in this group and their old-age insurance benefits total $89,036 monthly. The following table shows the number and amount of the other monthly benefits paid in Perry County, as of December 31, 1963.

Retired Worker, 1293, $89,036; Wife or Husband, 658, 19,510; Widow or Widower, 304, 17,039; Mothers and Children, 1331, 56,412; Disabled Workers and Dependents, 2388, 100,791; Parents, 26, 1,654; TOTAL 6196, $284,442.

In releasing the figures, Mr. McDougal pointed out that the social security benefits are important to the community as well as to the people who receive them. "It is a fact," he said, "that almost every dollar of social security benefits coming into the County is spent each month in local business for food, clothing, shelter, and other essentials. In this way, the benefits have a stabilizing effect on the local economy."

Mr. McDougal forecast that the number of social security beneficiaries will continue to increase in the future, but at a much slower rate than in the past 10 years. He said that, nationally, the social security benefit rolls increased from about 5 million people in 1954 to more than 19 million at the end of 1963. This rapid growth in the beneficiary population resulted from major amendments to the Social Security Act from 1950 through 1961.

He cited several amendments which extended social security coverage to self-employed business and professional men, farmers, and agricultural workers, and other groups. As a result, several million people whose work was brought under social security are now receiving benefits.

Other qualified through amendments which reduced the amount of work needed to get benefits. One change—lowering the age at which older people can get benefits from 65 to 62—accounts for 1.8 million out of the 19 million people now entitled to benefits. The amendments also introduced a new protection under social security—disability benefits—and 1.5 million disabled workers and their dependents now receive benefits under the disability provisions of the law.

Writer Trades Land In Perry County; Recovers Old Home Place

By Green Hamblin

Reynolds.

My writing is getting to be like Finnegan's train. Oh, haven't you heard of that? Way back in olden days one burly conductor on a train was named Finnegan. Due to poor conditions of the track and equipment, the train was often delayed by wrecks, etc. So a phrase was coined, "Off again, on again, gone again Finnegan".

But really, I have never lost faith in Eastern Kentucky. For the weekend of April 4, I journeyed back to Hazard and swapped land. Got the old home back on the riverbank at Dunraven, where I once stayed 16 years. Those were the days when we walked to the one and two room schools, Napfor, Campbell Bend, Pigeon Roost, Meadow Branch, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Colwell have been off from school a week due to flu.

Chester Fugate and Walter Steele visited Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hickman in Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Hickman was formerly Betty Fugate from Dunraven.

Only about seven more weeks and the school children will be let loose on the parents. They always said "turn about was fair play".

A BRAVE MAN LAID TO REST

BY: Louise Brummett

General Douglas MacArthur, a hero of World War I and World War II, was a five star general.

General MacArthur fought for life for a week or longer until Sunday, April 6, 1964. He died at the Walter Reed Hospital, New York City at the age of 84. His body laid in state in New York until Wednesday, April 8, when it was taken to Washington, D. C., to rest in the rotunda of the Capitol building of a casket drawn by six white horses with honor guards and service men from the five branches of the service at 2:45 p.m.

The funeral procession moved slowly down Pennsylvania Avenue. This remains me of another great leader, President John F. Kennedy, November 22, when the lonesome death "Taps" played as today for General of the Army, Douglas MacArthur.

The casket moved up Capitol Hill, where the body laid in state on the Lincoln catafalque. The casket as of Army steel weighing 2700 pounds and was draped in a U. S. flag.

General MacArthur was buried in an Army summer uniform with none of his awards on him except his five star emblem on his shoulder representing his rank.

Music was furnished by the U. S. Army band. In a limousine behind the casket where Mrs. MacArthur and her son, Arthur. There were nine pall bearers that carried his body to the rotunda, where the presidential wreath of red and white carnations was placed by the casket. He had a 21 gun salute at his Washington funeral. His personal flag was carried by a soldier. It was a five star flag.

The body was removed from the casket and carried up the long steps of the Capitol to the rotunda at 3:30 p.m. The song, "Our Leader Is Gone," was played by the Army band as they approached the Capitol. Following behind were Mrs. MacArthur and son, Arthur, and other members of the family. The body was placed on the stand where Abraham Lincoln's body lay.

Services were held by Chaplain Frederick B. Harris and Chaplain Bernard Backenham. He was carried to the casket by an Army horse.

General MacArthur was taken to Norfolk, Virginia. He had requested this as his final resting place. He was entombed in the MacArthur Memorial Cemetery on Saturday, April 11, 1964.

Editor's Note: We are sure our nation will miss this great man and his leadership.

The four participated in groundbreaking ceremonies for the Child Welfare Department's new institution located near West Liberty in Morgan County. The camp will offer schooling, work in an adjacent State Forestry Division tree seedling nursery, and counseling and treatment for 30 to 40 delinquent boys from the Eastern Kentucky area. Construction is expected to be completed by early summer.

ARH Wants Congress To Lend Money To Students

An official of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc., recommended to Congress last week that the federal government lend $1,000 a year to students studying to be professional nurses.

Dr. O. J. Wilson, assistant executive director for development and education, testified in Washington April 10 before a House subcommittee on the nurse education bill, which proposes loans of $1,000 for the first year and $555 for each additional year of schooling.

A.R.H.I., a non-profit, non-sectarian corporation, operates community hospitals at Harlan, Hazard, McDowell, Middlesboro and Whitesburg. It also operates the Professional School of Nursing at Harlan.

"It must be recognized, the former president of Findlay (Ohio) college told the committee, that, unlike college young men and women pursuing a four-year liberal arts program, professional nursing students are unable to hold a part-time job to supplement their allowances from home. In many cases they have little or no financial assistance other suggested that provision be made in the bill for the approval of Congress last week that the federal government lend $1,000 a year to students studying to be professional nurses.

Dr. Wilson suggested other changes in the nurses education bill, which attempts to carry out President Johnson's recommendations for federal aid to stimulate an increase of 130,000 in the number of professional nurses by 1970.

He proposed that the federal government give to professional nursing schools a grant of $500 per student to help finance instruction. "The professional nursing schools of the nation," he commented, "have borne the staggering cost for nursing education alone for many decades."

The bill would provide construction grants to nonprofit hospital schools of nursing if they put up $1 in cash for every

There's better body support built into the Beautyrest coil unit because only Beautyrest has separate springs to fit the curve of your back. And because it has buoyant firmness, Beautyrest will not rob you of comfort and sleep—as do so many so-called posture mattresses.

So if you're out to save money, it pays to insist on longer-lasting Beautyrest. In the long run, the best actually costs the least. Important to know with many so-called "Bargain buys" on the market today.

4 IN 60,000,000 SLEEP RECORDINGS MADE UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE SLEEP RESEARCH FOUNDATION, BEAUTYREST WAS PROVEN TO GIVE MORE DEEP SLEEP THAN ANY OF THE OTHER LEADING MATTRESSES TESTED. The more deep sleep you get, the more refreshed you are in the morning. That's why, when you buy Beautyrest—you're assured of maximum healthful rest.

5 ONLY BEAUTYREST GIVES SINGLE-BED COMFORT IN A DOUBLE BED BECAUSE ONLY BEAUTYREST HAS SEPARATE SPRINGS FOR EACH SLEEPER! Beautyrest's springs are separate and independent. Press down on one Beautyrest spring and others are not affected. No rolling together. The heaviest husband cannot disturb his wife's rest.

6 THE PRESIDENT OF SHERATON HOTELS SAYS: "With 49 of America's leading hotels, we pride ourselves on hospitality and comfort. Beautyrest is the only mattress we now buy". And Beautyrest is the only mattress that has passed the minimum performance standards of the American Hotel Association.

7 BEAUTYREST PROTECTS YOU, THE SHOPPER. As stated by Grant Simmons, Jr., President of Simmons Company: "Beautyrest is never offered with an artificial, inflated list price. Others do this continually. The advertised price is slashed down to the actual price of the mattress as a 'come-on'. Beautyrest always means what it says—and it gives you $79.50 value for $79.50!"

Power Company Reduces Rates Effect Wednesday

Kentucky Power Company today announced electric rate reductions, effective Wednesday, that total an estimated $240,000 per year.

Approval of the company's application to reduce rates was given yesterday by the Kentucky Public Service Commission. The new rates primarily affect industrial customers but also include some residential and commercial customers.

M. Baker, vice president and general manager of Kentucky Power, said that the low rates were made possible by the recent 2% reduction in Federal corporate income rate—an action taken to stimulate the nation's economy. Baker explained that the rate reductions, in line with the action of the Congress, were designed to provide the largest possible amount of stimulus to the economy of the area of eastern Kentucky served by the company and therefore were directed primarily to its industrial and mining customers.

"Reduction in our power rates, we sincerely hope, will help attract some new industries to our service area and encourage some present industries to expand," Baker said. He added that "either development would be, in the best sense, an example of the intended effect of the recent tax cut."

Two reductions were made in residential rates. For all home usage between 800 and 3,000 kilowatt-hours per month, the rate was reduced from the present 1.5c per kwh to 1.2c per kwh. Likewise, for all home usage above 3,000 kwh per month, the rate was dropped to 1c per kwh.

Finally, Kentucky Power's proposal to the PSC included a reduction in the electric heating rate for total electric schools: from 1.5c to 1.2c per kwh.

Along with the reduction of rates goes a stepped-up program of construction for Kentucky Power, which serves 95,000 customers in 18 counties of eastern Kentucky.

On March 20, Donald C. Cook, president of American Electric Power Company and of Kentucky Power, announced that Kentucky Power plans to invest an estimated $50 million within the next seven years for expansion and modernization of its electric facilities. This is part of a total program of $1 billion to be invested through out the entire seven-state AEP System during that period. Cook said that the System was investing the $1 billion because of "confidence in today's favorable business climate" and because "the economic position of the country has been enhanced by the recent Federal income tax cut."

Justice Dept. Investigates New U.M.W. Contract

The Justice Department is investigating the new United Mine Workers contract to determine if it violates federal antitrust laws.

A spokesman for the department said yesterday the Attorney General is looking into the question of whether the contract discriminates against small, nonunion coal producers.

The investigation, he said, was undertaken at the request of nonunion mine owners who have protested that the new contract's royalty provisions are a conspiracy between union mines and the U.M.W. to force them out of business.

Payment Rate Is Issue

The new wage agreement, which was signed between the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association March 23, provides that companies under the contract must pay 80 cents a ton into the union's welfare and retirement fund on all nonunion coal they acquire to supplement their own production and sales.

On coal the union companies mine themselves, the rate is 40 cents a ton.

The Justice Department spokesman said the 40-cent difference could conceivably be considered a "penalty" which discriminates against nonunion mines.

A similar investigation of the contract is being conducted by the National Labor Relations Board at the request of the National Independent Coal Operators Association, and the Pikeville, Ky., Independent Coal Operators Association.

Autobiography of John Mullins, 86, Teacher For 42 Years

I was born October 5, 1877, and reared on Irishman Creek in Knott County, the post office now being Amfurgey, Kentucky, which puts me well past the 86 years mark.

My father was the late J. N. (Nute) Mullins and my mother was the late Elizabeth (Bets) Madden Mullins, and our family consisted of two boys and nine girls; six of whom, one boy and five girls, are now deceased.

Our only means of livelihood in those days were mostly mountain farming by summer and in the fall digging roots, such as Ginseng, May Apple and Puccoon.

Education was a rarity, something just talked about, as there were only three months school to the year and lots of pupils had to walk three to four miles to attend.

As it was, I very well remember my first teachers, the late Amfurgey Cox, John (Houn) Amfurgey and Watson (Spraddle Bug) Combs. While being tutored by them, I conceived a great urge or desire to further my education, and to do this I had to enroll in a subscription school for four months, attending two months under a Professor Ward supervised by Granville (Judge) Combs on Montgomery Creek in Perry County and the other two months under a Professor George Clark of Hindman, in Knott County, Kentucky.

Airman Assists in MacArthur Rite

LANGLEY AFB, Va. — Airman Second Class Ralph C. Lewis of Partridge, Ky., was a member of the joint services marching unit that accompanied the body of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur from the Naval Air Station at Norfolk to its final resting place April 9.

Airman Lewis was one of 165 Air Force personnel from this Tactical Air Command installation that composed the Air Force element of the unit.

A special vehicle repairman with the 4500th Air Base Wing here, the airman escorted the casket during its six-mile journey to the MacArthur Memorial in Norfolk.

The airman is a graduate of Whitesburg High School.

MR. AND MRS. JOHNMULLINS

out of school I took the County examination and was granted a Third Class Certificate, now being twenty three years old I was hired to teach my own home school, and well on my life's career, I wasn't satisfied with that degree of certificate, and after one month of teaching, I took the County Examination again and this time came out with a Second Class Certificate.

After the school year ended or a First Class Teachers Certificate and was immediately hired again this time for a period of five months.

I was in the capacity of teaching for a period of forty-two years, and during this tenure, I actually taught thirty-six schools and parts of two more.

In 1904, and at the early age of twenty-seven, I wooed and married Matilda Smith, the daughter of the late Jordan Smith and Mary Combs Smith, and to our union were born three boys and four girls. One boy died in infancy. We still have six children living, one son in Berea, Kentucky; one daughter in Camas, Washington; and the others residing in a ten miles radius of our home here in Vicco.

Also we have twenty-one grandchildren and twenty great grandchildren.

I built a home on my father's farm and reared my family there, moving away in 1939 to Mount Sterling, Kentucky. Then after one year, I again moved back to Knott County, and after two years of teaching school, I retired and moved back to Montgomery County, eight miles from Mt. Sterling, in a little town known as Tick Town.

After six years there, and all of our children were married, we decided to return to Vicco, where we now live.

My possessive here in life has been very meager like most of the old timers: As we all had our ups and downs. I now draw a Teacher's Retirement check for $103.00 per month, and have out lived every one of my eight brothers-in-Laws, two of whom were old retired school teachers.

Come to think of it very deeply, I sure have lived many, many MOONS, and just how many more I have to go-well-only THE GOOD LORD KNOWS.

Funeral was Tuesday, April 7, at the Ball Branch Regular Baptist Church with Coy Combs and Borrer Morris officiating. Burial was in the Ball Sue; his grandmother, Martha Branch Cemetery at Mousie.

Folks blast my hide if I for one sure pulled off my long handles a little earlier this year. March 30th will make some type of a record for the weather man. With all this snow and below freezing weather conditions sure has been a set back to many of you early gardening people. I will say one thing MARCH sure departed more like a lion than many of us expected it to do. It was a beautiful EASTER morning although some what on the cold side, but not bad enough to keep too many away from the Easter Sunrise Services that were held on the Combs Road. To me this is one of the most impressive Easter Services that are held any where. The rise of the morning sun over the mountain plays a wonderful picture in this valley. There was a nice crowd attending, but there was still room for many more.

I WILL SAY

We can be on the alert for something that we have been looking forward too, that is a spring like situation that we had a few days ago, Easter has come and gone, March is something of the past we are now into April, warm rains and showers, which will make any thing you have in the ground at this time to start to sprout and grow. Yes, I would say we are on our way to the big change of the foliage of our mountain sides, soon you will see the Dogwood, Redbud, and other early blooms in other forests. Birds will start making their nest in your hedges and other types of foliage around your homes, this is really something to watch. It is also something to appreciate, something to help them with. Mostly not to let them be molested with by kids in the neighborhood. Lets help our birds raise their broods in peace that any family should be allowed to do. You, the parents are the protective ones over your children, see that they help our wildlife in the protection of their young. They have a hard enough time battling the elements of nature without any aid from mankind, but feeding them could be a valuable asset to your wildlife friends in the raising of their young.

APPALACHIA, AND ITS PROGRAM

I for one have read so much in regards to the plans for this region, I am beginning to ask myself what is really the set up for our area? Meetings, Plans, Talks and etc. WHEN WILL THE ACTUAL PROGRAM TAKE PLACE That is the question I would like to have answered. WHEN, WHERE WILL BE THE STARTING PLACE. Or is this another political set up? To see a program such as this to make progress, first we must forget any political ambitions, the sincere need for our fellowman must dominate, to sum it all up in short order, we all must go hand in hand, Republicans, and Democrats, Protestants, Catholics, Baptists and Methodist. To me this is a common cause, with all working toward the same goal it couldn't fail. Regardless of what is needed, first we must make a start, cooperation is the greatest asset I would say. Over a span of years I have heard of so many promises of what will be done in Eastern Ky., it all boils down to political promises. Let's forget these and work together for what our area needs.

Our people are really flood minded any more, only this week of April 4th, when we had some heavy rains, the radio station was swamped with calls in regard to how much water we might have. Folks, if you want to get some first hand work done in regard to the waters, the radio station is not the place to solve your problems. Why don't you set down and write your Congressman and Senators in Washington, D. C.

Let's watch and keep our eyes opened to the work the Jaycees are working on in regard to flood control measures. Lets all join them in their efforts to abolish floods and to render aid before they come, or before we can get adequate protection from our high waters. With all working as one great unit, we can't help but solve our problems such as FLOOD CONTROL, also THE APPALACHIAN PROGRAM.

IT IS THY WILL BE DONE,

In the past few days we have lost two old time citizens that could tell many of a good story to all. One was Grover Campbell up Jeff. Ky., way the other Green Holliday down Troublesome way, both were of the old school of our rugged mountain citizens. Their interest ran very much the same, they both loved the outdoors, fishing, hunting, farming, gardening. At either of their households any stranger was a welcome guest, if it was within a hour or so meal time they insisted you stay, and their feelings were hurt if you didn't. They enjoyed life, they enjoyed people. These are the type of people that promoted the friendly attitude of our people that came up the hard way. To these bereaved families may I express my sympathy along with the many readers of this column in these hours of great loss.

FIDIGETY WEATHER AHEAD

As Charlie Robinson calls them from here on out, we will have a few cold spells, such red bud winter, dogwood, and etc. Nevertheless many of you are already hitting the stream and lake banks, good catch of suckers was reported by Pleas Begley and Mike Frost over at Buckhorn Lake, Jay Brashear and Partner a wampus catch of buffalo suckers on the Clinch River in Tenn., above all on doll flies, I think they had about forty five from the report Leon Brashear gave me. This is the biggest catch so far I have learned of this spring. I, Mark Hampton with a good string snagged in below the new dam here in town, Henry Pullian pulled a good bass from his pocket and showed me, he didn't catch it, seems that some one else did below the same spot was the only one he got so he gave it to Henry. Regardless of how you got it that will mean fish in the skillet.

THANKS TO

Joe Napier and Herbert Hayes for a big mess of Sassfrass. So many of you that have had a mess of this spring tole is really grateful to you boys for doing this helping chore to so many old people that can't get into the woods to go dig it as they use too. Polk sallet is not too far away now, soon we all the lovers of nature's blessings sent to us as such will be forthcoming in abundance. Don't make the mistake I did, don't hist your diddy to high about taking off your long Johns. This I did and believe me I have had a wampus type of a time with the colds, or viruses, or whatever you wish to call it, I do know one thing it sure gives you a mighty running snotty nose.

It was wise, manly and patriotic for us to establish a free government, it is equally incumbent to attend to the necessary means of its preservation. —James Monroe.

For the 3rd time in three years, Fred Lorenzen takes the grueling Atlanta "500" at the wheel of his Ford.

FORD TOTAL PERFORMANCE WINS ATLANTA "500" FOR 3RD YEAR IN A ROW!

Latest win gives Ford 11 out of last 12 NASCAR 500 milers!

ATLANTA, April 5: In a blazing exhibition of total performance, ace driver Fred Lorenzen piloted his specially modified '64 Ford to a stunning victory in the Atlanta "500" before a cheering crowd of 75,000 spectators.

This victory marks the 11th time that Ford has captured a NASCAR stock car event of 500 miles or more starting in May, 1962.

In the past two years, tough, dependable Ford-built cars have carved out an incredible history of victories in virtually every kind of automotive event possible—from stock car races to economy runs, from rallies to endurance tests.

This is the dramatic way to show that Fords have changed . . . and the sure way to be certain they keep on changing.

Ford enters special cars in open competition, in addition to its extensive laboratory and test track programs, because competition provides an intensity of testing that no proving ground alone can provide.

The lessons Ford has learned in racing have already led directly to such refinements as a stronger rear axle, streamlined "fastback" styling, better brakes and an improved ignition system.

Because Ford enters open competition, the cars at your Ford Dealer's are stronger, better handling, safer and thrifter in the long run. They're built for total performance.
